EDUCATION.

— Abbot Academy, Andover, graduated sixteen young ladies June 19, Rev. E. L. Clark, D. D., of Boston, delivering an address of remarkable power and interest and presenting the diplomas. Rev. Dr. Judson Smith preached the baccalaureate sermon on the previous Sunday.

— A new feature of the Commencement at Kimball Union Academy this year was the Clark prizes for extemporaneous speaking, offered by Rev. F. E. Clark, D. D., who preached the sermon to the graduating class of twenty five. A department of elocution and physical culture has been added to the course.

— The Commencement exercises of Dow Academy, Franconia, N. H., were in accord with the high scholarship of this institution.
It was announced that during the coming year Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor Dow, the widow of the founder, will bestow several munificent prizes for superior merit in literary attainment and deportment.

— Smith College graduated 112 young women, to whom President L. C. Seelye preached the baccalaureate and President W.
D. Hyde of Bowdoin spoke sound and helpful words on Commencement Day. A delightful feature of the festivities was the presentation by members of the senior class of a drama-tized version of Passe Rose, A. S. Hardy's charming story. The young ladies cast it in the form of a play and took the parts of the characters with admirable appreciation of the spirit of the story.

— Phillips Academy, Andover, had a graduating class of one hundred and nine on June 21. The ministerial ancestry of students who appeared on the Commencement stage attracted attention. Hiram Bingham, son and grandson of the well-known missionaries bearing the same name, was the first speaker, two sons of Professor Ryder received the Joseph Cook Greek prizes and a son of Dr. M. L.
Gordon the first English prize, while other names on the long list of graduates were easily recognized in similar ways. One of the eight selected speakers, the class poet, was a son of Governor Greenhalgh, who was present on the platform. Prof. John Phelps Taylor was the baccalaureate preacher.

— Tabor College has just closed a successful year, 218 students having been enrolled and six graduating. The address before the Christian Associations was given by Hon.
W. H. Alexander of Omaha. On Commencement Day Rev. S. W. Butler, D. D., of Omaha gave an inspiring address on The Waiting Niche. The excursion to Tabor, on June 9, of 100 persons who had been in attendance on the Home Missionary Meeting at Omaha was a pleasant feature of the week. Large numbers gathered to listen to the anniversary exercises and praised in high terms the Class Day program, the concert and the alumni meeting. The large opportunities before Tabor College demand a large increase of funds, and for this the trustees are planning.

— Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., observed its forty-ninth Commencement June 14. The days just preceding were crowded with the customary events. Prof. John Winter Thompson, who has just returned from a year of musical study at Leipzig, gave a brilliant organ recital. The exhibition of the Knox Conservatory was of exceptional merit. The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. F. A.
Noble, D. D., of Chicago, his theme being A Good Success. Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., gave the annual address before the Christian Associations. Fifty-eight young men and women received diplomas—the largest class yet graduated. President Finley reports $70,000 raised during the year toward the desired endowment. Plans for enlargement are on foot, and a new science hall, among other improvements, is to be provided.

— At Doane College Dr. Joseph Anderson of Waterbury, Ct., preached the baccalaureate sermon from the text, "Buy the truth and sell it not." Rev. T. W. Jones of Philadelphia gave an informal address before the Christian associations of the college. The audiences at the graduating exercises of the academy at the Dawes oratorical contest and at the conservatory concert were exceptionally large and enthusiastic. Other occurrences of the week were the farewell reception in honor of Prof. G. D. Swezey, the alumni meeting and banquet and the ceremonies connected with laying the corner stone of Whitin Library. Eleven students received the bachelor's degree and one the diploma of the normal department. The twelve orations and essays delivered at the graduating exercises showed that Doane College inspires in her students true patriotism, a desire for service and a love of learning.

— The committee of the trustees of Iowa College which considered the utterances and teachings of Prof. Herron, after full and frank discussion with him, has reported that while

The Best Things to Eat

Are made with ROYAL BAKING POWDER—bread, biscuit, cake, rolls, muffins, crusts, and the various pastries requiring a leavening or raising agent.

Risen with ROYAL BAKING POWDER, all these things are superlatively light, sweet, tender, delicious and wholesome.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER is the greatest of time and labor savers to the pastry cook. Besides, it economizes flour, butter and eggs, and, best of all, makes the food more digestible and healthful.

WHAT MEN SAY.

— I can hardly think it possible that you need any word of mine to assure you that I am in favor of law and order and opposed to mob vengeance in any case, and whether the subjects to it are white or black. The laws of the land are, or ought to be, sufficient for the protection of any citizen, able to enforce obedience to them from every citizen, and strong and certain enough to redress every wrong against society and to punish every crime.—President Cleveland.

— As well try to preserve the American Union by asking all of our population to move into the State of Rhode Island as to invite all Christians to union within the lines of immersion and the historic episcopate. . . . The Quakers have neither "the historic episcopate" nor the "primitive sacraments" and yet they are undoubtedly Christians of the best type. If righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost are the tests, the Quakers stand high. When facts are appealed to theories must give way.—President W. G. Ballantine.

Shall we never learn that a country is great only when there are fathers and mothers in the home, when there is chastity and purity in the home and faith in the church, and the love of God in the hearts of men, and when the nation, with its worldly spirit, with its bosses and its machines, and its godlessness, and its narrow, worldly horizon that can hardly look beyond the next presidential election, shall come to have a faith in God and in humanity as the children of God and of eternity, in which we live and for which we live?—Dr. Abbott.

— There is no sentiment embodied in the laws of money, and, no matter how great may be the volume of the currency, if each and every dollar of that currency is not of value to pass current in the world of business it cannot add in the slightest degree to the blessings of the people. To be productive of the people's good it must be, whether of gold, silver or paper, in the very order of things, of unquestioned and unvarying value and, when called into requisition, discharge without the aid of legal tender acts at home or abroad the obligations of the holder.—Controller Eckles.

— I could not stay in America for one month unless I believed that I was engaged in a great national work. I am not a young man, and every day of my life must bear some fruit. I have no right to waste the influence of my name. It is a matter of great regret to me that the American form of government does not permit Congress to provide for the support of the national conservatory. It is a great burden for private enterprise to carry. . . . I stay in America because I recognize the national conservatory as one of the foremost schools of the world, and I am proud to be at the head of it.—Dr. Antonin Dvorak.

I regard Christianity as a life, rather than a creed. The only orthodoxy that I am especially interested in is that of life and practice.—Whittier.

MRS. FRANCES EMERSON POOLE.

Mrs. Poole of New York City, eldest daughter of William Emerson and Frances Maria Haskins, of Providence, R. I., entered into rest Dec. 7, 1894. Inheriting the strong characteristics of noble ancestry, the old repeated saying with reference to Emerson's grandmother: "She was one of the best of Christians, the best of mothers, the best of wives, the best of women," might as well be said of Mrs. Poole.

Positive influences of a Christian home, seconded by her pastor, Dr. Leonard Swain, led her to an early union with the church. The Sabbath school was her chosen field, and her class of colored boys was a marked feature in the Central Church vestry in the days when slavery stained our nation.

In 1870 she married Reuben B. Poole of New York, making the Broadway Tabernacle her Sabbath home and the mission school her field. But God had chosen for her another mission. A complication of spinal, heart and nervous diseases confined her to her home for the last twenty years, in almost constant pain, at times so severe as to induce spasms of unconscious suffering. Her physician, Dr. F. S. Bradford, writes: "Nineteen out of twenty persons afflicted as she has been for years would have died long ago," and adds "her example of Christian fortitude in adversity and cheerful patience in sickness and suffering ought to remain forever in the memory of all who knew her."

The venerable rector of St. Mark's Church, Brooklyn, who frequently visited her, writes: "She ever gladdened her home with cheerful words and a happy disposition. No murmur or complaint has ever been heard from her lips. All with her has been joyous and thankful. No visitor would ever have known from her appearance that she was a sufferer from pain. No visitor ever left her without being impressed with the truth that she was a pattern of a cheerful, lovely and hospitable Christian woman. She was indeed a rare example of what power there is in true Christian religion to transform the natural into the spiritual life."

"I live from day to day" was her frequent remark, and all plans were preface by the saying "If I live," showing how conscious she was of a probable sudden call to the other home. The summons has come. In one half-hour after she was laid upon her deathbed she was touched with the solemn beauty that so often speaks to friends of a sweet rest and a joyous waking, which leaves upon the memory of the living the blessed assurance of happy life beyond. It was a touching tribute to her life that the funeral hour should assemble a large circle of sympathizing friends—doctors of divinity, business men, teachers, Sunday school scholars and many who had found in her the friend in their hours of need. Unconscious merit has the attracting power for conscious friendships, which death only quickens into a more vivid life. Her life gave better lives to many.

Rev. Dr. Stimson at her funeral spoke of her influence upon others, with no thought of the good she was doing. Pointing to the lilies that friends had laid beside and around her, he remarked that she exerted an influence as unconscious as these flowers.

Husband and daughter had her whole heart's love and devotion, and yet every home of their kindred was sure to receive her token of love and sympathy in sorrow and of added cheer in seasons of joy. A few kindred spirits will wither, as when the frost comes, because of this chill of death. Yet her last message was, "Go, attend to daily duties." We have but to obey and await the summons which will give us eternal union.

I AM SO NERVOUS

Many women say. "I cannot sleep. I have no appetite. I cannot work." Such a condition as this is due to impoverished and impure blood, which is not the right kind to give strength to the nerves and digestive organs. Let the blood be purified, enriched and vitalized with Hood's Sarsaparilla and all this nervousness, sleeplessness, and loss of appe-

"Three years ago I was taken with nervous prostration. I had heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and thought I would try it. As soon as I began taking it I began to get better, and now I do all my work." ROXANNA DUNN, Castile, New York. Get only Hood's.

CURIO CASE.

We only give a rough idea of the shape of this Cabinet; its decoration and detail are beyond any attempt of the engraver.

The entire Cabinet is finished in bronze lacquer and hand-painted. The panels are by well-known artists and are examples of the best Vernis-Martin work. The arched roof is similarly treated.

Every opening, panel and joint is framed in brass. Brass bands, collars and moldings of the most elaborate character have been employed. The corner-posts are adorned with miniature busts of the Muses.

The Cabinet within is carpeted with silk tapestry of a rare floral pattern. Beneath the floor is an inclosed cabinet for private treasures. The back of the Cabinet is a French plate mirror with heavy plate glass shelves. The glass in the sides and front is double-curved.

It is one of the best Curio Cabinets we have ever offered.
